THOSE TAKEN BY HAND OF DEATH

Mrs. James Hersh Dies at her Home on Baltimore Street. Adam Bollinger Dies in Cumberland Township. Mrs. Keller Dead.

MRS. JAMES HERSH

Mrs. Emma R. Hersh, widow of the late James Hersh, died at her home on Baltimore street at eleven o'clock Monday evening from an illness following a stroke of apoplexy received several months ago. She was aged 61 years.

Mrs. Hersh was born in York Springs, a daughter of Caleb and Mary Magdalene Hildebrand. She attended the Millersville State Normal School and after graduation there taught in the public schools of Adams County for several years. On November 25, 1869 she married James Hersh who died on August 4th last. Four days after her husband's death Mrs. Hersh was stricken with apoplexy and had been confined to her bed ever since.

She leaves two sons, William Hersh Esq., and Frank Hersh, both at home; one brother and four sisters, John Hildebrand, of Butler County; Miss Ada Hildebrand, of Hollidaysburg; Mrs. A. R. Metzgar, of Harrisburg; Mrs. Sarah L. Houser, of Gettysburg; Mrs. Leah Runohr, of Minneapolis.

Funeral Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 at the house. Interment private in Evergreen Cemetery.

ADAM BOLLINGER

Adam Bollinger, a well known resident of Cumberland township, died on Monday morning at his home after an illness of some duration from heart trouble. He was aged 77 years, 3 months and 21 days.

Mr. Bollinger was a resident of Cumberland township almost his entire life. For some years he engaged in the butchering business and later purchased a small farm. In recent years he has been a familiar figure about town as a battlefield guide.

He leaves his wife and the following children, Mrs. Cyrus Fissel, of Greenmount; Mrs. Edward Weikert, of Waynesboro; John Bollinger, of Cumberland township; Mrs. George Stroup, Mrs. Daniel Shealer, Harvey Bollinger, of Gettysburg. He also leaves two sisters and three brothers, Mrs. Leander Warren, of Gettysburg; Mrs. Matilda Sentz, of near Littlestown; Henry and George Bollinger, of Cumberland township; and Peter Bollinger, of Emmitsburg.

Funeral Wednesday morning meeting at the house at ten o'clock. Services and interment at Mount Joy church.

MRS. ELIZABETH KELLER

Mrs. Elizabeth K. Keller, a sister of Mrs. Calvin Gilbert, of Springs avenue, died near Boston last week. She was a native of Mensallen township and had not lived in this section for many years. Mrs. Keller was 76 years old and is said to have been the first woman in America to study and practice surgery.

SHOT DOE

Hunter Shot Tame Doe Near Hunter's Run.

Deer season closed Saturday and nearly all the campers have returned home. A great number of bucks were killed and from different localities comes the report that some does have been shot.

At Henry Clay, near Hunter's Run, some party or parties killed a fine doe. The deer had been in that locality during the last several years and seemed very tame. Every year the animal would be seen by the members of Beam's and Gardner's camps and by them it was considered a pet, and each year they returned she seemed like an old friend. Three years ago she visited the tents almost nightly in search of apples and other fragments of food. Last year she was again present. On Saturday before she was killed two members of Beam's Camp saw her and that night and all day Sunday the deer slept within a hundred feet of the tent. Sunday afternoon members of Gardner's camp saw her.

By order of the Game Commission the carcass was forwarded to Todd Hospital at Carlisle.

EXTENSIVE PLANS FOR PLAYGROUND

William Kurtz will have Large Dam Built on Playground. Government likely to Extend Avenue to Baltimore Street.

Extensive plans for the equipment of Gettysburg's playground are now under consideration by Mr. William Kurtz, of Philadelphia, the donor, and Frank Day, landscape architect who is working on the plans.

Mr. Kurtz has purchased from Dr. Walter H. O'Neal a three acre tract of land at the north end of the site already secured. This tract adjoins the extension of Stratton street back of the jail and was desired by Mr. Kurtz for several reasons, the first of which was to provide coasting facilities and another to allow more land for building a dam. This dam is to be four feet in height, one hundred feet wide and will extend back three hundred feet providing excellent skating in the winter and sufficient water for sports in summer.

Mr. Kurtz has decided to donate to the government a small tract along the Winebrenner lane, or the old brick yard lane as it is frequently called, with the understanding that the National Park Commission shall extend the avenue in the rear of East Cemetery Hill all the way around to the Beniah Spangler property and connecting with Baltimore street. This would provide excellent entrance facilities to the playground park.

In speaking to a representative of The Times Mr. Kurtz said,

"It is our intention to fit up the playground with apparatus for every known outdoor sport which the boys and girls of Gettysburg would enjoy. We will have five or six tennis courts, several base ball diamonds, so that the little fellows as well as the big ones may enjoy themselves, there will be the necessary equipment for hand ball and basket ball, the girls will have a well appointed croquet ground and every one will be able to find enjoyment here. I have now about nineteen acres, all it will require, and we will go right to work on it in the spring."

Mr. Day, the landscape architect, has had much to do with laying out the grounds of a number of the country clubs about Philadelphia and is an expert in his line. He has been given a contour map of the ground, prepared under the direction of Colonel E. B. Cope, and will locate the sites for the various sports.

The caretaker's house will be located along the lane and will be equipped with shower baths and lockers together with storage room for equipment.

LEG BROKEN

Falling Tree Inflicts Painful Injury to County Man.

Ezra Hawn, of Mountpleasant township, had one of his legs fractured near the ankle on Monday. With Edward Olinger he was chopping down a tree when the branches caught. They were swinging the large tree about to get it free when it suddenly turned and struck Mr. Hwan with considerable force. He was carried to his home and Dr. Lindaman reduced the fracture.

The condition of Conrad Ilyes, who was crushed by a falling tree on the farm of Bert Ensminger, near Abbotstown, Friday, is said to be favorable to recovery. His condition continues serious, however.

The condition of Daniel Baer, of near East Berlin, who was injured on Thanksgiving day by the explosion of a stick of dynamite, was worse Sunday. In the afternoon he experienced a hemorrhage of the sub-lingual artery and lost a great quantity of blood. Only the timely arrival of Dr. H. B. Hetrick, who was hurriedly summoned, prevented his bleeding to death. Of the injuries in the face which Baer sustained as a result of the explosion, those of the mouth were the most severe. The artery which burst is that underneath the tongue.

FREE LECTURE

Dr. H. A. Surface to Lecture in Brua Chapel on Pests.

Dr. H. A. Surface, widely known through this section by his work in fighting orchard pests, will give an illustrated lecture in Brua Chapel this evening at eight o'clock. Dr. Surface is a recognized authority on the subject and will have a large number of fine slides to illustrate his talk. The lecture is one of the college free course and is open to the people of the town who are cordially invited. It takes the place of the lecture by Dr. Peschau which had been arranged for this date but which had to be postponed on account of the illness of Dr. Peschau.

Old Santa Claus Says:

-New York World.

Of course, in this as in all other things, Santa has the true Christmas idea. The spirit of the day breathes thoughtfulness for others. The meaning of Christmas is to make others happy.

By doing your Christmas shopping early you make the clerks happy and thus act in harmony with the spirit of the day.

Shopping early is not only good Christianity, but good business. It gives you a fresh and complete stock from which to choose and time to make your choice properly.

NOT ACT OF SACRIFICE, AS THE WEST REGARDS IT.

Neither Was It a Rebuke to Changed Conditions, as Has Been Implied
—Deed Will Long Be Remembered in Japan.

Life in Japan is much more a state of mind than in the west, where materialism governs and sentiment does not go much beyond the first verse of a song. So when Gen. Count Nogi chose to escort his emperor to the shades, it called forth a mixed admiration, with the practical thought that great men are of more value alive than dead. It would be untrue to say this view has no standing in Japan. It has. But beyond and behind it is an idea of duty that cannot be matched in the west. It is truly the scriptural precept that no higher sacrifice can be made than to lay down one's life. This has nothing to do with the heroism of the moment that acts quickly in moments of peril with us. There is less of that in Japan. It is instead the deliberately calculated sacrifice, rare on this side of the earth, and in which the Japanese finds the greatest solace for his pride. Pride rules Japan. The Samurai and their lords came down to the people; the people did not go up when the great change came with the era just ended by Mutsuhito's death. So pride leavened the mass and its influence prevails as much as when the two-sword men forced manners by menace upon the common herd.

To explain that General Nogi killed himself as a rebuke to changed conditions does not seem correct. Pride impelled him. He would not linger beyond the era to which he gave glory and through which he gained fame. Better to depart in splendor and in great company than to linger only to be pointed at!

To say a member of the military caste in Japan should kill himself as a rebuke to modern ways of wealth-getting is rather absurd. The great generals drew regular percentages upon supplies sent to their command. Gen. Prince Yamagata, first of the elder statesmen, amassed a fine fortune from this source during the war with Russia, and Gen. Prince Katsura had his share. There was no shame or secrecy about their transactions. It was part of the system of rewards.

But when next summer and other summers come and the feast of the dead is celebrated along the shores of the beautiful Lake Biwa, near Kyoto and its imperial tomb, the peasants will remember the emperor and his escort when at dusk the sails of the little lantern-lit boats are set to bear the souls of the dead back to their uncharted shore, and the people will whisper to each other the story of the general who would not let his commander depart alone.—By the Author of "Surface Japan."

Stage an Exception.
Cyril Scott tells of a dinner he once attended at which Edwin Booth was the guest of honor. Mr. Booth was called on for a speech.
"What shall I speak of?" he asked. He was a quiet man and hated speech-making.
"Oh, just tell us about the stage; something about the theater," someone said.
Booth laughed. "If you want to know about finance, ask a banker. But if you want to know anything about the stage, ask the barber or the hotel clerk—anyone except an actor."

The Missing Adjunct.
"There was a very disagreeable wait at the Muggleton's wedding last evening. The bride was in tears, the bridegroom's collar melted, the pastor fell asleep in his study and the organist played, 'Oh, Promise Me,' eleven times."
"What in the world was the trouble?"
"Why, the moving picture man's auto struck a fire hydrant and his whole outfit went to smash."

Aloft in the Distance.
"I shall take a lofty position in discussing public affairs," said the young man who is learning politics.
"That's right, son," replied Senator Sorghum. "Only don't soar so high into the empyrean that you are like an airship and the only impression people get of you is a small spot and a buzz."

PROOF.

Jigson—So your grandfather lived to be ninety years old, eh. Did he retain possession of his faculties until the end?
Jagson—Can't say. His will hasn't been read as yet.

A Noble Character.
Who never takes umbrellas
That don't belong to him,
Deserves to dwell in heaven
Among the seraphim.

Country Girl of Nowadays.
"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"I'm goin a-milking, sir," she said, "and I'm also pretty and I'm only eighteen. I'm just a country girl. I've never been to the city and I know what manners are. And if there's anything more you'd like to know just ask me."—Satire.

Human Chronometer.
The dotting mother was telling the bachelor uncle about the wonderful baby.
"George is so regular in his habits," she said. "He wakes up crying at exactly 12 o'clock every night."
"A time bawl," said the bachelor uncle.

Black Hand Methods.
"I received a letter from a trust magnate today," said the manager of the campaign fund.
"What does he want?"
"Wants to contribute. Says he has hidden $5,000 in a hollow tree, and demands that we go and get it."

A Possibility.
Jinks—If I had not married I would be worth a million.
Binks—But I am single and penniless.
Jinks—Ah, but if you had married you might have learned to economize.

Two or Three.
Country Cousin—Well, I was in the Metropolitan museum this morning.
City Host—That's nothing to brag about. I know two or three fellows living right here in New York who have been there.—Smart Set.

His Idea.
"Don't you think we have laws enough already, senator?"
"Oh, yes; but if I don't let 'em know what I'm here for, I'll never get here again."

DECIDEDLY IN SECOND PLACE

Only One Way in Which Mr. Hatchett Was Known, and He Didn't at All Appreciate It.

Hannah Holden Hatchett was known as "the pagan poetess." She had published three books. And she had married one man. The names of her books were "Venus and Adonis," "Pipes of Pan" and "Airs From Arcadie." The name of her husband was Michael Moses Hatchett.

Mrs. Hatchett went to parties. Mr. Hatchett went to business. But once Mrs. Hatchett got Mr. Hatchett to stay away from business and go to a party with her. The party was given by Mrs. Benjamin Bonaparte Motley.

Mrs. Motley introduced her guests to Mrs. Hatchett. And to Mr. Hatchett also.

"This is Mrs. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley.

"I am so glad to meet you!" said Mrs. Faddle. "I have set your 'Ode to Olympus' to sweet, soothing music and have made a lovely little lullaby out of it."

"Dear me!" said Mrs. Hatchett.

"This is Mr. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley.

"Mrs. Hatchett's husband?" said Mrs. Faddle.

"Yes," said Mr. Hatchett proudly; "you bet!"

"This is Mrs. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley to a second woman.

"I just adore your 'Nectar and Ambrosia,'" said Mrs. Havoc. "I do my own cooking, and while I boil the coffee and fry the eggs, I always chant the refrain!"

"Good gracious!" said Mrs. Hatchett.

"This is Mr. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley.

"Mrs. Hatchett's husband?" said Mrs. Havoc.

"Yes," said Mr. Hatchett grimly; "that's me!"

"This is Mrs. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley to a third woman.

"I am simply crazy about your 'Paeon of Praise,'" said Mrs. Rummage. "I have embroidered the first line in yellow chenille on green plush for a mantel drape in my mother-in-law's back parlor."

"Mercy on us!" said Mrs. Hatchett.

"This is Mr. Hatchett," said Mrs. Motley.

"Mrs. Hatchett's husband?" said Mrs. Rummage.

"Yes," said Mr. Hatchett crossly; "nothing more and nothing less—gosh blame it!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Beauty Recipe.

Dr. F. H. Green, the great lecturer, gave this "beauty recipe" in one of his addresses: "Hear some beautiful music, see a beautiful picture, read some beautiful literature every day." All this, recognizing the close relation between soul and body, is perfectly reasonable. It is better than all cosmetics, rouges or drugs ever heard of. The picture, the music, the literature impresses the mind, which gives form and tone to the physical expression.

Of course, this little experience must be sincerely considered, unselfishly and lovingly done. A put on appreciation of art will not avail. The true love of the beautiful makes beauty. This is a scientific fact, as sure and steadfast as that sugar will sweeten coffee. But one has to get meanness, ill will, suspicion, revenge out of one's heart, to make good use of the recipe; to give play to the beauty of the art.

The starry sky, the songs of the birds, a glimpse of woods, a flower sprinkled lawn—these have the same effect. They make beauty for whoever loves them sincerely.—Ohio State Journal.

Told of Lillian Russell.

This story is somewhat belated—but then a yarn about one of Lillian Russell's marriages is always worth while. It is alleged by those of her friends who attended her most recent ceremony that when the officiating clergyman turned over to her newly-made husband the signed marriage certificate, Mr. Moore seemed somewhat puzzled. "Is this all I get?" he asked.

The clergyman said that was the usual form of return. However, if Moore wished, he had a small booklet which contained the form of the marriage ceremony and the signature of the cleric.

"Ah," said Mr. Moore, "that's better. I say, Lillian?"

Miss Russell regarded him pleasantly.

"Shall I take just a certificate, Lillian?" asked Moore, "or shall I get a book?"

And he waved the booklet vigorously in the air. Miss Russell shook her head at him reproachfully. "Why, no, Alexander," said she. "I haven't enough to make a book."

Washing with Stone.

Numerous inquiries have been made at the commercial intelligence department of the board of trade, in Basinghall street, London, E. C., respecting the exhibit of soapstone which arrived a few days ago from the British vice consul at the Russian town of Kertch, in the Crimea. The stone, which is dug out of the ground at a place called Bachi-Sarai, and is known locally as "kheel," is used for all kinds of washing purposes and as an emollient. Of a marbled pale green and brown appearance, a piece of the mineral substance soaked in water crumbles to a soft paste. It is understood that none of the board's officials has yet risked shaving with the new stone soap, but hand basin tests in washing have been quite successful. On the ground of its comparative cheapness, about a tenth of the price of common soap, several British firms have already become much interested in the commercial possibilities of the curious exhibit.—Dundee Advertiser.

Housekeeper for a small family. Good wages. Apply by letter to J. T. Riggeal, Cashtown.

OF USE TO THE TRAVELER

Little Workbox That May Be Said to Be Almost an Indispensable Adjunct.

Men who travel much frequently find themselves without the possibility of help when such a little disaster happens as the losing of a button, and as often as not the necessary articles wherewith to remedy the defect are absent. Under these circumstances a small case fitted up in the manner shown in our sketch will prove a most acceptable gift to any man who may be called upon to do a little needlework for himself.

It can be made with any small cardboard box of a suitable size, and if the lid is not already hinged on it should be fastened on by pasting a piece of broad tape across the back. The front of the box should be cut out and hinged on at the lower edge in the same manner, and the whole box can then be neatly covered with silk or linen. A piece of wire is run through the front part of the box, and the ends bent upward and cut off with a pair of snippers. On this wire are suspended two reels of cotton—one black, the other white, so that they will revolve freely as the cotton is drawn from them. Directly behind the reels a small cardboard partition is fixed across, making little compartments for various kinds of buttons, tape, etc. On the inner side of the lid two straps are sewn, one for a thimble and the other for a pair of scissors. On the front of the box, which falls forward in the way illustrated when the lid is raised, two small pockets are arranged, in which packets of needles may find a place. A small pin cushion and a needlebook with flannel leaves, some black and brown boot buttons and shoe laces might also be stowed away at the back, and would no doubt come in useful.

GARMENTS IN DAYS OF RAIN

Question of Material Just Now is One of the Very Greatest Importance.

At this season of the year the selection of the "dressier" coats and suits is one limited only by the purse or taste of the buyer, and the most serious question confronting the average man or woman along the subject of "clothes" is what to buy that will be good looking and yet be serviceable in both rainy or sunny weather. The "cravanette" answers all requirements and is suitable for every occasion where a rain repellent garment is desired.

The secret of the popularity of this material is that its appearance never indicates that it is a waterproof fabric, but when wearing it in a storm its rain-proof qualities are quickly appreciated.

For auto wear, riding habits, costumes for outdoor sports and for chauffeurs' outfits this cloth is admirable, as it comes in three weights and in various shades and weaves.

Fashion's Fancies

Check patterns are coming quickly to the fore as blouse materials.

Imitation furs are taking the place of the expensive peltry. These fur cloths form little vests, cuffs and collars on jackets.

Velvets, corduroys and velveteens are important for afternoon suits, and the corded effects seem to be most generally used in costumes.

Muffs will be of more mammoth size than ever this winter. The furriers have seen to that. They are also desperately concerned in working up original little fittings for the neck in the guise of high collars.

Materials are, as a rule, supple, soft and wide. The tones are soft and neutral, allowing for the introduction of the color note by means of the vests, girdles, velvet collars and ornaments so much in vogue.

Stunning jackets of Scotch knitted goods for the cool autumn days will appeal to the woman who enjoys a cross-country tramp. Made in the Norfolk style and resembling a heavy cloth in texture, they are decidedly good looking.

Soft New Porcelains.

Have you seen the fascinating Danish porcelains in soft gray and white that are being shown in interesting vases, candlesticks and fruit bowls?

One attractive piece that could do duty for flowers or fruit is a Danish peasant girl in her native costume, with quaint cap and sabots. Her frock is gray, her apron, cap and sabots white. She leans gracefully forward, apparently walking, and drags beside her great baskets, each fully six inches in diameter, of plaited gray and white porcelain.

Besides the beauty of this vase, it permits delightful effects with short stemmed flowers, and is especially graceful as a center piece filled with purple and white grapes, or blue plums and green gages.

THE CALL

The bugle call for parade formation on Memorial day is at once a sad and a thrilling thing. What memories it arouses in the heart of the old soldier!

There is now a bugle call for you. It summons you to join the parade of early Christmas shoppers.

If you do not respond instantly, as those heeding the bugle ever should do, the procession will have passed and you will be left.

You will then get into the mixup of the late Christmas shoppers, who are not organized into anything so orderly as a parade, but are simply a mob.

There you are liable to be tramped on, maimed and bruised and without getting anything for your pains.

FINE CAREER

Mme. Frances Alda to Sing in York on Thursday.

The coming of Mme. Frances Alda in concert, December 5th at York lends interest to a resume of the prima donna's career, for although she has sung in this country but a few seasons, the name of Alda has already begun to loom large on the musical horizon. While Mme. Alda was still in her teens she journeyed to Europe to commence earnest study for the stage operatic. Three strenuous years of study in Paris under Madame Marchesi followed, and then, in 1904, she was chosen by Massenet himself to sing the title role in his opera of "Manon" at the Opera Comique. So great was the young singer's success that she was immediately engaged for the "Monnaie" in Brussels, where she remained three seasons. Advertisement.

PROFANITY TO QUIET PANICS

Colonel Bright Used It Effectively to Restore Order at Theater and Conventions.

Col. Dick Bright, who has attended every Democratic national convention within the memory of man, was once caught in a theater panic. Being desperately in love with his own life, the colonel desired to prevent anybody else in the theater knocking him down and using his handsome face as one of the milestones on the road to the exits. Inspired by the emergency, he stood up in his seat and heaped on that crowd of terrorized and struggling men and women the most horrible stream of profanity that he could enunciate—which, it may be remarked, was profanity of an emphatic and marvelous variety. But it did the work, because it made the audience so mad that they all took a hand in beating him up.

In 1884 at the Democratic convention in Chicago the colonel was in charge of preserving order in the hall. At that time his face had not recovered from the ordeal of darting hither and thither, under the impact of what had happened to him in the theater, and he had a great respect for profanity as a pacifier. Consequently, he went to the chief of the fire department and requested the loan of twelve men to preserve order in the convention hall.

"I don't want any members of the church," he explained, "and I want men who have strong bass voices."

His request having been granted, he visited the various fire engine houses and picked up the twelve classiest profanity vendors he could find.

"Now," he told his swell brigade, "if there is any sign of a panic in this hall, leap on a chair and cut loose with that line of talk you gave me behind the fire house this morning. The delegates will forget all about their fright and put in their time beating you up. You will find me leading the chorus from the speakers' platform."

There was no sign of a panic in that convention, but the colonel still maintains that his system is the best ever invented for keeping people from rushing to the exits.—Popular Magazine.

NEW MIKADO IS DEMOCRATIC

Simple in His Habits and Opposed to Ostentatious Display When Land Is Poor.

Yoshihito, the new mikado of Japan, is a personality almost unknown to the western world. He is educated and able and no one has suggested that in administrative affairs his hands are tied or that he is in any way lacking in forcefulness. Yet this ruler, who could be as ostentatious as he pleased, is said to have the peaceful good nature of a child. He cut the ministerial allowance for the late emperor's funeral 25 per cent, because he did not believe in display when there was poverty and distress in his land, and arranged to defray a part of the cost from his own palace fund.

It is related that he does not take very kindly to the oriental idea of being ever surrounded by bowing, humble courtiers and attendants, and that when on a drive from the palace through the streets of Tokyo he was so annoyed to see that the royal cavalcade was fenced by a saluting crowd and that traffic was entirely blocked that he ordered that in the future his drive should be along the less crowded streets.

When verging on manhood he went hunting and shot a deer. The cries of other deer, which he believed to be the children of the one he had killed, sickened him, and in his grief he wrote a poem regretting his act and has since declined to hunt.

He is democratic and is even said to have stolen away from the palace disguised as a workman and associated with his fellow toilers on terms of absolute equality.

His Rest.

Pierre Loti, the famous French author, praised American energy at the Hotel Marie Antoinette in New York. "There's a story," he said, "that illustrates well the energy of your men of affairs."

"A gentleman called at the office of an indefatigable millionaire financier. It was four o'clock in the afternoon, and the financier lay back in his revolving chair with his feet on his desk, and a picture magazine in his hand.

"I've worked mighty hard for the last ten years without a day's vacation," he explained. "I feel all run down, and I'm now going to take a long rest."

"And a well-earned rest it will be, too," said the visitor, heartily.

"The visitor departed, expecting that the millionaire would set out at once for Europe or California, but the next morning he saw him presiding as busily as ever at an important directors' meeting.

"Why, how about that long rest?" he asked.

"The millionaire frowned in amazement.

"Didn't I take it yesterday afternoon?" he said.

Porto Rico's Advancement.

Porto Rico, until recently benighted, lax and lethargic, whose trade was of little importance to the world, has risen until it stands twelfth among the countries of the globe as a customer of the United States. Last year the island purchased from this country over $37,000,000 worth of products. The islanders cannot supply the demand made upon them for coffee, tobacco and other products, and are prospering generally.

U.P. MERGER MUST BE DISSOLVED

The Supreme Court Declares It Illegal.

GIVEN THREE MONTHS TO ACT

Highest Tribunal Declares Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Are Competitors and Stock Holding Is Illegal.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The supreme court of the United States in an opinion announced by Justice Day held that the Union Pacific Railroad company, by the acquisition of a stock in the Southern Pacific Railroad company, had effected a combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Justice Day, reading the opinion, indicated that the court would enter a decree to dissolve the combination and also an injunction to prevent the Union Pacific from voting Southern Pacific stock.

In announcing the opinion Justice Day said:

"This court reaches the decision that the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific systems, prior to the stock purchase, were competitors engaged in interstate commerce, acting independently as to a large amount of such carrying trade, and that in the acquisition of the stock in question the dominating power of the Union Pacific has suppressed competition between the systems and has effected a combination in restraint of interstate commerce within the prohibitions of the act.

"In order to enforce the statute the court is required to forbid the doing in the future of acts like those which are found to have been done in violation of the statute.

"The decree should provide an injunction against the right to vote this stock while in the ownership or control of the Union Pacific company or any corporation owned by it, or while held by any corporation or person for the Union Pacific company and forbid any transfer or disposition thereof in such wise as to continue its control, and should provide an injunction against the payment of dividends on such stock while thus held, except to a receiver to be appointed by the court, who shall collect and hold such dividends undistributed by the decree of the court.

"As the court below dismissed the government's bill, it was unnecessary there to consider the disposition of the shares of stock acquired by the Union Pacific company, which acquisition, we hold, constituted an unlawful combination in violation of the anti-trust act.

"In order to effectually conclude the operating force of the combination, such disposition should be made subject to the approval and decree of the court, and any plan for the disposition of this stock must be such as to effectually dissolve the unlawful combination thus created.

"The court shall proceed, upon the presentation of any plan to hear the government and defendants and may bring in any additional parties whose presence may be necessary to a final disposition of the stock in conformity to the views herein expressed.

"Any plan or plans shall be presented to the court within three months from the receipt of the mandate of this court, failing which, or upon the rejection by the court of plans submitted within such time, the court shall proceed by receivership and sale, if necessary, to dispose of such stock in such wise as to dissolve such unlawful combination.

"The government has appealed from the decree, which is a general one dismissing the bill. So far as concerns the attempt to acquire the Northern Pacific stock and the stock of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company, afterwards abandoned and a certain interest in the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad company, and other features of the case dealt with and disposed of by the decree and opinion of the court below, it is sufficient, without going into these matters in detail, to say to them we find no reason to disturb the action of the court below, but for the reasons stated, the decree shall be reversed and one entered in conformity with the views herein expressed, so far as concerns the acquisition of the Southern Pacific stock."

MINE CAVE SHAKES THREE CITY BLOCKS

1500 Wilkes-Barre Families Ready to Flee.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Dec. 3.—Three entire city blocks are rocking and shaking from a mine cave and 1500 families are terrorized and ready to flee at the first sign of a general subsidence of the earth.

The disturbed section is almost in the heart of the city and is made up of North Pennsylvania avenue, North Washington street, East North street and Bennett street.

Rumblings of the earth were heard during the night. They produced a noise much like a bombardment and they have continued incessantly during the day. At irregular intervals there are blasts like terrific explosions, and these are followed by the swaying and twisting of buildings, which tear the dwellings from their foundations and bring about a general state of fright.

Numerous families have reported the earth shocks so severe that coffee pots and frying pans are tossed from the kitchen stoves and hurled to the ceiling.

All the families are ready to depart. Guards are stationed about to give warning of any depressions, and while there have been some subsidences they are not general as yet.

The section is undermined by the workings of the old Smith colliery, which is now controlled by the Wilkes-Barre Anthracite company. The officials cannot predict the outcome because the disturbance is in a part of the mine that has been abandoned for several years.

R. R. CASE IN CONGRESS

Rhode Island Representative Charges Criminal Conspiracy.

Washington, Dec. 3.—An investigation of possible violations of the Sherman anti-trust law by the Grand Trunk Railroad company and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company in connection with the building of the projected New England branch of the Grand Trunk, is authorized by a resolution introduced in the house by Representative O'Shaunessy, of Rhode Island.

The resolution would provide for the election by the house of a special committee to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the suspension of work on the Grand Trunk line through southern New England.

The question is under investigation by the department of justice following complaints made by the citizens of Providence, R. I. and of other towns along the lines of the proposed extension.

CANAL NEARLY FINISHED

Stimson Says the Waterway Will Be Ready on Time.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Secretary of War Stimson returned from a six days' stay in the Panama canal zone, where he went to familiarize himself with the problem of the military defense of the canal. His views on this question will be presented shortly in his annual report.

"The canal is almost done," said the secretary, "and there is every reason to believe that it will be completed within the time set for the official opening."

With the secretary of war were Mrs. Stimson, Miss Helen Taft, Felix Frankfurter, law officer of the insular bureau, and Captain J. McA. Palmer. The party made the return trip by train from Key West.

GERMANY WILL STAND BY AUSTRIA

Imperial Chancellor Gives Russia Warning.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE INTACT

Declares in Event of War Over Serbian Dispute Kaiser's Government Will Draw the Sword to Aid Her Allies.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—The imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, uttered a plain warning to Russia that in case hostilities should arise out of the Austro-Serbian difficulties, Germany would draw her sword to assist her allies.

The imperial chancellor was at this point of his speech heartily applauded by many of the members present.

Continuing, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg declared the belligerents in the present war did not dispute the right of the great powers to have a word in the final settlement of the Balkan question in which their interests were all involved. The wishes of the powers, he said, would carry greater weight if they were presented collectively. Negotiations with that end in view were now proceeding, and he hoped they would result successfully.

Germany, he said, like several of the other great powers, was interested in preserving Turkey as a powerful economic and political factor. He was able, he said, to deny reports that the great powers or several of them were planning the acquisition of Turkish territory as a result of the war. It was assumed the imperial chancellor was referring to the report that England was about to proclaim a formal protectorate over Egypt.

The vigorous tone adopted by the imperial chancellor surprised the house, which was expecting the usual diplomatic assurance that everything was going well.

The imperial chancellor made this declaration in the course of a speech in the reichstag discussing the Balkan situation. It was a repetition of the statement made at the time of the controversy over the question of Bosnia and Herzegovina, in 1908, which then caused an immense sensation in the European capitals. A lull at that period it first threatened to sweep away the pacific Russian cabinet, the current of feeling aroused among the Slavs ultimately brought peace.

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, after summarizing the efforts of the great powers in the first place to delay the outbreak in the Balkans and later on, when war was found to be inevitable, to localize hostilities, passed on to the question of the interests of the great powers directly affected by the final settlement. He said:

"When our allies, Austria-Hungary and Italy, in maintaining their interests are attacked—although this is not the present prospect—by a third party and thereby threatened in their existence, then we, faithful to our compact, will take their part firmly and decisively.

"Then we shall fight side by side with our allies for the maintenance of our position in Europe and in defense of the security and future of our own fatherland.

"I am convinced that we have the whole nation behind us in such a policy."

Germany's threat means that in the event of hostilities, in which she declares she will join, the Triple Alliance, composed of Germany, Austria and Italy, would face the Triple Entente, Great Britain, France and Russia, in one of the greatest wars in history.

Germany's warning, coming at this time, when the Balkan war is in a fair way of settlement, is evidently intended to curb Serbia in her demands for territorial expansion toward the Adriatic coast, a question that has been regarded as the most serious menace to the peace of Europe growing out of the war between the Balkan allies and the Turks.

FIVE CARDINALS GET RED HATS

Invested With Full Insignia of Rank at Consistory.

Rome, Dec. 3.—The pope officially announced the appointment of the following American prelates:
Right Rev. Dennis J. O'Connell, bishop of Richmond; Right Rev. Patrick A. McGovern, bishop of Cheyenne; Right Rev. Austin Dowling, bishop of Des Moines, and Rev. Edward J. Hanna, auxiliary bishop of San Francisco.
A consistory was held by the pope in which the red hat was placed on the heads of the several prelates, who, with Archbishop O'Leary, of New York, and Archbishop Farley, of Boston, were on Nov. 27, 1911, designated as cardinals. They are: Francis X. Naas, archbishop of Vienna; Giuseppe Maria Cos y Macho, archbishop of Valladolid; Antonio Vico, papal nuncio to Spain; Francis S. Bauer, archbishop of Olmuetz, and Enrique de Almaraz y Santos, archbishop of Seville.

JACK JOHNSON MAY MARRY

Negro Prizefighter Says White Girl Is to Be Bride.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Jack Johnson, in an interview declared he would marry Lucille Cameron before the end of the week.
Miss Cameron is the nineteen-year-old white girl, of Minneapolis, Minn., whose friendship with the negro pugilist started the investigation which resulted in his indictment under the Mann "white slave" act.
"I have known where she was ever since she left the hotel where her mother was staying last Wednesday," said the prize fighter. "I will not tell where she is now, where the ceremony will be performed, or anything else about it. I don't want Lucille Cameron annoyed. She will be in court, however, when my case is called."

BILLION DOLLAR CONGRESS SURE

Appropriations Expected to Go Over This Mark.

LEADERS GET AN OVATION

Both Houses Adjourned as Soon as Preliminaries of Organization Were Concluded Out of Respect to Dead Members.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The senate and house settled down to work for the high pressure "billion dollar" session that is to end the Sixty-second congress and mark the passing of the control of the government from the Republicans to the Democrats, who have not been in power for sixteen years.

Crowded galleries looked down on the animated scenes on the floor as Speaker Clark in the house and Senator Bacon, presiding in the senate, rapped the respective bodies to order.
Speaker Champ Clark, wielding his emblem of order with ever increasing force, succeeded in breaking two valuable gavel before he had brought the enthusiastic house through an hour and ten minutes of business. The sessions in both houses served to complete the preliminary work of organization and left congress ready for legislative business.

The senate, depressed by the recent death of Vice President Sherman and Senators Heyburn and Rayner, was in session only twenty-two minutes. Both houses adjourned as soon as the preliminaries of organization were concluded, out of respect for members and officers who had died since the adjournment in August.

Boisterous enthusiasm greeted the return to the house of Speaker Clark, former Speaker Cannon and other members whose names have long been associated with the important affairs of that body. The roll call in the house was by states, and as the roll proceeded the members cheered and applauded the names of the more prominent members.

A rising greeting was given former Speaker Cannon when his name was reached. Democrats and Republicans, who had joined in the applause for Speaker Clark when he entered the chamber, jumped to their feet and joined in the cheering. Four governors elect, who will go from the house of representatives to their respective state capitals, also were vigorously cheered as the roll call proceeded. They were Representatives Sulzer, of New York; Cox, of Ohio; Robinson of Arkansas, and Hanna, of North Dakota.

No business was transacted by the senate, but several bills and resolutions were introduced in the house. A joint committee was named by the two houses to notify President Taft that congress was ready to receive his communications. Senator Bacon, presiding officer of the senate, appointed Senators Cullom and Martin and Speaker Clark named Representatives Underwood, of Alabama; Mann, of Illinois, and Johnson, of Kentucky.

BILL FOR EX-PRESIDENTS

It Favors Pension of $2000 a Month. Bill Also For Single Term.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Pensions for all future ex-presidents of the United States at the rate of $2000 a month their widows at the rate of $1000 a month and all minor children in case their parents are dead at $200 a month were recommended in a bill introduced by Representative De Forest, Democrat, of New York.

He also proposed a constitutional amendment fixing the president's term at six years and making him ineligible for re-election.

FIRST KISS ALMOST FATAL

Woman Who Sought It Breaks Ribs and Arms.

Hackensack, N. J., Dec. 3.—A bashful boy, who refused to be kissed at a New Bridge barn dance, near here was indirectly responsible for a serious accident to Mrs. Winfield Ackerman.

Mrs. Ackerman is now a patient in the Hackensack hospital, suffering from a broken arm, two broken ribs and painful bruises on the limbs and body.

The fourteen-year-old boy, who shyly declared he had never been kissed was chased by Mrs. Ackerman. He darted upstairs to the new barn loft, where he was finally cornered. As he struggled to be free, Mrs. Ackerman backed up against the double door. The temporary catch gave way and she and the boy fell a distance of twenty-five feet.

FRANK RYAN TESTIFIES

Ironworkers' Chief Denies He Knew of Explosions.

Indianapolis, Dec. 3.—Argument that those who already have confessed alone caused the illegal transportation of explosives on passenger trains to blow up non-union iron and steel jobs was followed in the examination at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial of Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

After the testimony of its five hundred and forty-ninth witness the government closed its case, and on its own motion had four of the forty-five defendants dismissed on the ground that the charges against them were not sustained.

Mr. Ryan testified that neither he nor the executive board knew of any money having been expended by McNamara for dynamiting purposes. All the letters written by him to business agents in various cities, which the government charges contain veiled instructions about jobs to be blown up by Ryan, said, simply referred to work upon which non-union men were employed or upon which it was desired to put non-union men.

"Did you ever talk to Orlie E. McManigal about dynamiting or tell him to change his appearance often, so he would not be recognized?" asked Attorney William N. Harding.

"I hardly knew McManigal, and certainly never knew he was employed as a dynamiter for McNamara or anyone else."

He said he never had visited a vault in the ironworkers' headquarters in Indianapolis, where nitroglycerin and dynamite had been kept and he never had proposed, as charged, that J. J. McNamara, then secretary of the union, take Hockin's place as head of the "dynamiting crew."

TAFT CAMPAIGN COST $900,363

Final Statement of Republicans is Filed.

Washington, Dec. 3. — Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, brother of the president, led the contributors to the Republican campaign fund with $150,000, according to the final statement of the Republican national committee, filed with the clerk of the house.

The total contributions received reached $904,828. The expenditures were $900,363 for speakers, salaries, advertising, rent and other purposes, including $75,000 to the American Association of Foreign Newspapers.

In the list of individual contributions were items of $50,000 from Francis L. Leland, of New York; $25,000 each from the J. P. Morgan Co. and Andrew Carnegie, while the Yale Taft club, class of '78, in New Jersey, contributed $14,725, and Harry B. Rosengarten, Philadelphia, $15,500.

Of President Taft's cabinet, Secretary of the Navy Meyer contributed $2500, and Secretary Knox, Attorney General Wickesham and Postmaster General Hitchcock $1000 each. Among ambassadors, Larz Anderson, ambassador to Tokio, contributed $10,000; R. C. Kerens, at Vienna, $5000; Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France, and T. J. O'Brien, to Italy, $1000 each.

There were $10,000 lump contributions each from William Nelson Cromwell, Drexel & Co., the Union League club, of Philadelphia; J. B. Ford, New York, and Edwin S. and Charles W. Harkness, of New York.

PENNSY SPIES ON MEN

Several Demoted For Drinking Intoxicating Liquors.

New York, Dec. 3.—Employees of the Pennsylvania railroad have been disturbed for some days by the discovery that heads of the various departments of the system have authorized espionage for the purpose of determining the identity of the men, particularly those in the train service, who have been in the habit of drinking intoxicating liquors during working hours or after their day's work.

As a result of investigations made very quietly several men have been punished by reductions. Baggage men have been told that for a certain length of time they would do the duty and draw the pay of baggage porters, it is alleged, and even conductors detected in the act of tipping have been demoted to the rank of trainmen.

BUTCHER A DIPLOMAT

Turns His Knowledge of Fair Sex to Account.

Not Averse to Stretching Conscience by Adding or Subtracting a Few Pounds When They Want to Know Their Weight.

"See that scale out there," said the butcher, laying down his knife and jerking his finger toward a large scale that was standing outside the butcher shop. "Well, I suppose you have the same idea that most of my other customers have. They think I keep it there to weigh meat on. I don't. I will let you into a secret and tell you why I placed the scale there. It is to weigh my customers on."

"You would be surprised if you knew how many of my customers desired to be weighed. Most of them are women and they always bother me at my busiest time, which is Saturday. They think when they come in here and buy a pound of steak or chops that in return for their custom I ought to lay down my work and go outside and weigh them."

"Every one knows how sensitive a woman is about her weight. If you tell a woman that she is gaining weight you might as well tell her not come around and deal with you any more. They worry a great deal about it. I find that it pays to be discreet when you are weighing a woman. You can judge from their conversation how much they think they weigh, and never shock a woman by telling her she weighs more."

"Don't pay any attention to the scale if it shows that the correct weight is five or ten pounds more than the amount the woman said she weighed. Use your head and you will be able to retain customers. Other butchers have lost customers because they made the mistake of telling correct weights."

"Most women go to the country in the summer to gain weight. The best plan when they come home is to tell them they gained a few pounds. The first thing a woman does when she comes home is to come around here and have me weigh her. To make her feel happy and to satisfy her that her trip to the country has been beneficial to her health I add a few pounds to the amount the scale registers. There are many women who do gain weight while they are in the country. To these I always tell the correct weight because, if one of them thought she was getting too heavy, she might cut down her purchase of meat."

"In the winter I pursue a different course. Most women like to think they are getting slimmer in the cool months. When they come around to be weighed I slice off a few pounds from the figures on the scale and send them away feeling fine. How do I remember their weight? No, I do not keep a record of it. I don't have to. The women do it for me. A woman's weight is one of her chief sources of worryment and she keeps her weight in mind and daily informs me of it. With a little quizzing just before they step on the scales I am able to find out just what they think they weigh, and the rest is easy."

"The scale also helps me to improve my business. Now and then a new customer drops in. She may be new in the neighborhood or she may have been dealing with some other butcher. If I decide that the new customer is a critical person I tell her my meat is the best in the vicinity. Then I request her to step out to the scale and find out her weight. I take a few pounds off her correct weight. When she has been patronizing me for a month I weigh her again. This time I add a few pounds and she goes home with the impression that she is growing heavier without getting stout. She gives my meat the credit. That is the secret of how I manage to keep my customers dealing with me so long."

No Honor at All.

A section foreman on one of the great lines came under the notice of the president of the road, who had been observant of the manner in which the track had been maintained. Having graduated from an humble position, the officer knew what it meant to get a pat on the back.

He called the section boss to the side of his car, gave him a drink of whisky without any claws in it and a perfect cigar, says the Chicago Post. Then he told him how he appreciated his work and adjured to keep it up.

The district dignitary stowed away the perfect to smoke of a Sunday, and after he had consumed it took a spin on the handcar to put it all over the foreman of the adjoining section.

The latter listened to the narrative with poorly assumed control.

"Was the see-gar lighted when he gave it to ye?" he inquired.

"Not on yer life—why so?"
"Well, because he sint for me three months ago—alongside his car—and thrun wan at me, but it was burkin."

Foresight.

When it had been raining a day or two, Noah was seen to take a sample of the water in a bottle.

"How now?" the scoffing neighbors cried, around the ark.

"It would be a joke," answered Noah, "if the ark were not to contain pairs of germs of all the ills to which posterity will sooner or later find itself heir."

But such distinguished foresight was more than the neighbors could fathom, and they exploded forthwith in gale of derisive merriment.—Puck.

BRAIN REMAINS ACTIVE

EXPLANATION OF THE WORKINGS OF SOMNAMBULISM.

Authenticated Cases of Remarkable Performances Are Many—One Man Made Long Journey in Safety While Asleep.

Various stories are told of acts committed by persons asleep, and, while these bear all ear-marks of having been done with both body and mind active and awake, the performer, on his awakening, is unconscious of their execution. We herewith give a few of the most interesting and seemingly incredible of these authenticated tales: "A certain member of a foreign university, having devoted himself during his waking hours to the composition of some verses, which, however, he had not been able to complete, seems to have been honored with more success in a visitation from his muse during his nocturnal slumbers; for the following night he arose in his sleep, finished his poetic performance, and exulting in his success, returned again contentedly to his couch, all in a state of unconsciousness."

"A rope-maker in Germany often fell asleep while at work, and either continued his work in the proper way or uselessly remade cordage already finished. Sometimes when walking long distances he would similarly be overtaken with sleep and go on safely, avoiding horses and carriages and timber lying in the road. On one occasion he fell asleep just as he got on horse-back, yet he went on, rode through a shallow river, allowed his horse to drink, drew up his legs to prevent his feet being wetted, passed through a crowded market place, and arrived safely at the house of an acquaintance. His eyes were closed the whole time, and he awoke just after reaching the house."

"In the college where he was educated was a young seminarist who habitually walked in his sleep, and while in a state of somnambulism used to sit down to his desk and compose the most elegant sermons, scrupulously erasing, effacing or interlining whenever an incorrect expression fell from his pen. Though his eyes were apparently fixed upon the paper when he wrote, it was clear that they exercised no optical functions, for he wrote just as well when an opaque substance was interposed between them and the sheet of paper. Sometimes an attempt was made to remove the paper, in the idea that he would write upon the desk beneath. But it was observed that he instantly discerned the change and sought another sheet of paper as nearly as possible resembling the former one.

"At other times a blank sheet of paper was substituted by the bystanders for the one on which he had been writing, in which case, on reading over, as it were, his composition, he was sure to place the correction suggested by the perusal at precisely the same intervals they would have occurred in the original sheet of manuscript. This young priest, moreover, was an able musician, and was seen to compose several pieces of music while in a state of somnambulism, drawing the lines of the music paper for the purpose with a ruler and pen and ink, and filling the spaces with his notes with the utmost precision, besides a careful adaptation of the words in vocal pieces."—The Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

Boston's Favorite Dish.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston has advised his fellow Americans to eat beans instead of meat in these days of high prices for the products of the packinghouses. He has issued an official municipal recipe for Boston baked beans.

They must be cooked, he says, with fat pork, molasses, mustard and other seasoning materials, in a pot of porous earthenware. His directions are minute. Presumably they comply in every detail with the exactions of the most fastidious bean eaters to be found in Boston.

The world will be grateful for this disclosure of the means by which Boston became a center of sweetness and light. Beans contain a large amount of proteid matter and are favored by vegetarians as a substitute for meat at all times.

Disinfecting Ambulances.

The Buffalo hospitals have adopted an improvement in ambulances which will probably be copied elsewhere. It is often impossible to take time to properly disinfect ambulances used for contagious disease cases. The new scheme consists in providing separate steel linings for the ambulances—one lining for each class of cases. For instance there is a lining for diphtheria, another for smallpox, a third for measles, another for scarlet-fever and another for special cases. When for instance a scarlet-fever patient is being moved, the special lining for such cases is placed in the ambulance. On the return of the ambulance the lining is taken out and thoroughly disinfected while another lining is shoved into the ambulance. In this way there is no loss of time for the ambulance.—Pathfinder.

Doubtful Melody.

"A bird that can sing and won't sing must be made to sing," said the ready-made philosopher. "Yes," replied the practical person, "but anybody who would be satisfied with the result of that experiment must have a mighty poor ear for music."

MUFFLED KNOCKS.

"I value your opinion so highly, old chap, that I'm going to ask you not to waste so much of it on me. Wait till I ask you for it."
"Yes, you've told me the story a dozen times, Fladger, but go ahead; there's a sympathetic quality in your voice that I like."
"Going to leave us, are you, Muffkins? Well, you'll be glad to know that your dropping out won't hurt our business a bit."
"I wish I could afford to buy as good cigars as you can, old scout; I'd buy a rather better quality than you do."
"Gregory, you bad boy, I've told you a dozen times not to watch your Uncle Cyrus when he pours his coffee out into his saucer!"

Welcome Change.

Mrs. Knott Meek—According to the style books, Henry, the loop is to replace the button on certain dress fabrics.
Knott Meek—Great!
Mrs. Knott Meek—Why are you so pleased?
Knott Meek—I am tired of buttoning up gowns and I have always wanted to loop the loop!

THE REASON.

Riggs—I understand that you encourage your son to practice on the cornet.
Griggs—Yes, sir. He's only been playing two months—but today I bought the house next door to me for one-half of its value.

A Common Type.

Behold the shiftless, lazy man Who makes no effort to advance, And yet he bawls as loud 's he can, "Alas, I've never had a chance."

Remedy.

"This latest controversy has brought me altogether too much publicity," confided the politician. "What would you advise as a means of avoiding the spotlight?"
"Get married to some woman of social prominence and by the time people have left off discussing the bride this other incident will be forgotten."

A Hobbie.

Mrs. Stiles—How do you like my new gown?
Mr. Stiles—Reminds me of a crowded theater.
Mrs. Stiles—Crowded theater! How so?
Mr. Stiles—There seems to be standing room only.—Judge.

Parental Duty.

"I'm afraid my son will detect my duplicity," said Mr. Ohlsport.
"I'm so frequently compelled to chide him for his lack of proficiency in his studies when I am secretly yearning to congratulate him on his fine football work."

Wanted to Know.

Mother—Freddie, haven't I told you that if you mock at the peculiarities of others you may grow just like them.
Freddie—Say, ma, do you suppose if I mocked at the elephant long enough I'd ever get so's I could pick up apples over the fence with my nose?

THE REASON.

She (at the musicale)—He's advertised as "The Boy Pianist." Why, he's fully nineteen.
He—Yes, but he plays like a boy of nine.

Hardly.

No mortal's life Can be sublime, Whose specialty Is killing time.

Heard in a Restaurant.

Diner—I told you I wanted two fresh laid eggs on toast. Do you call these fresh laid?
Waiter—Yes, sir; fresh laid on the toast, sir.

His Method.

Gillet—How do you accomplish your great success with the ladies? Do you keep giving them things?
Perry—Nothing on earth but encouragement, old man.—Judge.

NOTES from MEADOWBROOK FARM

Cull the ewe flock.
Be careful in milking.
Sheep need care and feed.
Good fences are important.
Lime may be applied to the soil at any time.
The best seed corn is that grown on one's own farm.
Potatoes are as cheap this year as they will ever be again.
The dairy cow should essentially be a large and rich milker.
A coat of whitewash in the poultry house adds both beauty and profit.
Hogs running in the corn field are healthier than those shut in a pen.
To have horses of endurance give the colts a chance to develop their muscles.
Don't waste your time cutting corn for fodder after one good frost strikes it.
The only way to make sheep pay is to keep the best sheep and give them the best care.

Change of pasture makes fat cattle, they say. Variety in feed also makes cows better milkers.
The value of a hog depends upon his ability to make good pork. This is equally true of all breeds.

Are you keeping the boys and girls properly supplied with good "tools" to do their work in the schoolroom?

Your lambs ought to be big enough now to bring a good price. Let them go and give the rest a better chance.

The hay stock without a good top is just about on a par with the corn shock that has nearly twisted down.

Feeding the drop apples to the stock will save much grain and act as a good appetizer for the animals.

Because a cow is a hearty eater is no sign that she is profitable, but all large and profitable cows are hearty eaters.

Millet should be cut before the seeds are ripe, in fact, after it is well headed out it is a candidate for the mower.

Don't leave the sheep in a dry, short pasture. Give them a chance in a fresh pasture or give a good grain ration.

Corn is ready to be cut for silage when the grain is in the dent and glazed but can still be broken with the thumb nail.

If you produce your own seed grain it is important to select it early out of the best part of the crop and take good care of it.

The fatality among pigs during the abnormally heated spell was in many cases increased, if not wholly caused, by putrid swill barrels.

Lung troubles in swine are frequently the result of dust and filth snuffed through the nostrils while feeding on the ground.

Pigs that have been properly grown up to five months with big strong frames, can be rounded up quickly for market with a ration consisting largely of corn.

If more sheep were kept by farmers right along, instead of having them when feed stuffs are high in price and sheep vice versa, more money could be realized.

Keep your eye open for a better ram than you have been using. No use tramping the same ground over year after year. Get a little farther along the road to better things.

There is no better balancer for stock wintered on corn fodder than cowpeas. They furnish just the elements that are lacking in all feeds like corn, cane or kafir fodder and timothy hay.

Churning troubles appear as soon as cold weather sets in. But not all the churning troubles are due to cold weather; the cow that has been giving milk for a long time is apt to furnish cream that is slow to "come."

Feed is plenty this fall and cheaper than it has been for some time. This does not mean that it will stay cheap all winter for should it be a hard winter the feed would lessen fast. The time to buy feed, if any is needed, is in the fall.

Up and Down? Go To Your Doctor

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic. It does not stimulate. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. You have the steady, even gain that comes from a strong tonic. Ask your doctor all about this. Trust him fully, and always do as he says.

PROBING WRECK

Looking into Cause of Wreck at Pen Mar.

A coroner's jury on Monday heard testimony with a view to fixing the responsibility for the Western Maryland Railway wreck at Blue Mountain last Wednesday, in which two trainmen lost their lives, but was unable to agree on a verdict and adjourned until Wednesday. Conductor King, of the west-bound train, testified that when he reached Highfield he examined the train register and it indicated to him that he could proceed. In this he was contradicted by others. Superintendent H. H. Berry, of the railroad, testified that he did not believe King wilfully misread the train record at Highfield. He said the entire crew were sober and careful men. T. W. Gibbons, representing the Inter-State Commerce Commission, was present at the session and took notes of the testimony.

MUCH PLEASED

Bucknell Game at Harrisburg Likely an Annual Event.

The Bucknell College football authorities were very much pleased with the receipts from the annual football game played in Harrisburg with the Gettysburg team and according to several football authorities who are on the inside, the game at Harrisburg will be an annual affair. Bucknell's games are all played away from home because the facilities there are not such as to bring much revenue to the team from home games.

This year was Gettysburg's year to arrange for the game and they selected Harrisburg and it panned out well. They made enough money over and above the guarantee they were compelled to pay Bucknell to warrant the game being played at Harrisburg again. There was a counter attraction at Steelton the same day the game was played, too.

Next year is Bucknell's turn to make arrangements for the game and it is said that Bucknell will select Harrisburg. The open game is helping to bring the great college sport back into popularity.

HUNTERS CAUSE FIRE

Forty Tons of Hay Burned. Rabbits Frequent Place.

A large hay shed on the farm near Chambersburg, owned by Dr. W. B. Haycock and Hiram Slaughenbaup, was discovered to be on fire Saturday about 3:30. Nothing could be done to stop the fire and it burned until midnight, making much smoke and illumination, as nearly 40 tons of loose hay were burned. It is believed by the owners that the fire was caused by hunters, as several were seen leaving the place just before the fire. Rabbits were wont to live under the shed and this drew the hunters. The shed contained two corn plows, hay rake, reaper, two mowers and other implements, the property of the tenant, E. S. Huber. This was all destroyed. There was some insurance on the contents and the building.
